Our State Election.

The County Canvass in this City is not yet completed, and we can give no guess when it will be. All the other County Boards have canvassed and made returns, and our Board will probably do so in the course of the Winter, and when this work is accomplished, we can state with some approach to certainty what the fate of our State Ticket really has been. The Albany Evening Journal, of Saturday, taking the reported majorities in this City as correct, speaks as follows :

THE RESULT .- We have received the full official vote from the few Counties which were yes-terday reported by majorities. They make no material change in the aggregates. Reconciling as well as we can the slight discrepancies in the officials furnished us, but taking no note of the disfranchisement of the HId Election District of Catskill, nor of the 200 imperfect ballots claimed for Mr. Ullmann, the several candidates stand ut as follows :

figures yesterday.

The casting vote by the Lieut Governor in the event of a tie in the Senate, does not, of course, extend to the passage of bills. No bill can pass without the vote of seventeen Senators.

Of these, we understand, are the 125 votes for "Daniel Ullmann, Jr." in Queens County, which we have always allowed to Mr. Ullmann in our tables.

Topics of the Morning.

Our returns of the State vote are nearly complete, and we hope entirely correct.

Nine days later news from California, in our columns this morning, will be read with interest.

In our Washington correspondence will be found some items of speculation interesting to the politicians, while the writer vindicates with great zeal and earnestness the course taken by Mr. Webster in reference to the demands of Spain. Until these demands are officially published, together with the reply, we forbear expressing an opinion. Whatever may be Mr. Webster's motives, we only look for justice and the maintenance of the country's honor.

Union.

The telegraph brings us tidings of the almost simultaneous election of James C. Jones as a U. S. Senator from Tennessec and of Robert Toombs as a U.S. Senator from Georgia, each for six years from the 4th of March last. Though by no means new men, they are both new Senators, and one of them has never before filled a National position. We may, therefore, without impropriety introduce them afresh to our readers.

James C. Jones had never, so far as our knowledge extends, held any higher station than that of Member of the Legislature, when, in 1841, he was nominated by the Whigs of Tennessee to oppose the reelection of James K. Polk to the office of Governor. Col. Polk was never a great man, but he was nevertheless a formidable opponent. Respectable in talent and exemplary in private life, he had been fourteen years Member of Congress (House,) where he rose successively to be a Member of the leading Committee, (Ways and Means,) then its Chairman, and finally Speaker of the House. Gen. Jackson's personal influence and strong partiality had done much for him, but his own steady industry, suavity and energy had done more. Such was the man called by the exigencies of 'the party' to run for and be chosen Governor in 1839 ; such was the man Col. Jones was required to meet on the stump and vanquish in the struggle of 1841. As an orator, Col. Polk was but fair ; but his knowledge of recent and cotemporary Political History was unsurpassed in extent and accuracy. The exciting Political events which Col. Jones had only read of by his fireside in Tennessee, Col. Polk had not only witnessed but borne a part in, and could of course speak of them with something of authority. The Whig party, so enthusiastic and resistless the year before, was now disheartened by the recent death of Gen. Harrison and disquieted by the equivocal portents of Tylerism. Under such auspices, Col. Jones and Col. Polk canvassed the State County by County, each speaking some two hours daily to large assemblages of both parties at the several County seats; all the great questions which had created and divided parties being elaborately and thoroughly discussed by them, in the manner which has rendered Tennessee, though thousands of her voters cannot read, on Political topics one of the very best informed States in

Col. Jones as Governor by 3,243 majority.

Col. Polk was not satisfied with this result. He would not give it up so, and, seeing how hadly the Whig party had been distracted and paraly zed by Tyler's treachery, he determined to try again at the ensuing election, in August, 1843. Again the State was thoroughly stumped by the rival candidates, and again Gov. Jones was the and Col. Polk beaten by 3,838 majority.

Gov. Jones declined being a third time a cardidate, and has since held no office till now, save that he was a Delegate to the Whig National Convention of 1848. Though buried under two colleagues who did notallow him to east a vote, he was firm for Harry Clay to the last. He is a Whig from earnest conviction that the principles cherished and measures advocated by the Whig party are eminently calculated to advance and secure the National well-being. He does not fancy Protection a local or sectional benefit, but esteems it as important for Tennessee as for Rhode Island, and would as soon think of threatening to disband the Army and burn the Navy as to vote against Protection as a punishment to Massachusetts for hating Human Slavery. At the Election succeeding his last canvass, the Whigs of Tennessee ran Ephraim K. Foster, who had just been dabbling in Annexation, for his successor. They calculated on taking the wind out of the Loco-Foco sails by this maneuver, and succeeded in catching a flogging, as they deserved. Mr. Foster has since cultivated retirement. Gov.

minded Loco-Foco. -Robert Toomes is 'a horse of another color.' He has been a Whig ever since the old 'State Rights' or Crawford party of Georgia belted from Jacksonism, was a Member of the Legislature at twenty-five years of age, and has been a Member of Congress since Dec. 1845-six years. We met him too at Philadelphia in 1848, but in a very different mood from that of Gov. Jones. He was one of the fifty or sixty Members who came on to dragoon the Convention into Taylorism, and repeatedly proclaimed that if Mr. Clay should be nominated, he and his confederates would run Gen. Taylor as a stump candidate, and that 'the South' would vote for him. They succeeded, as audacity generally does. Henceforth we are against any Whig National Convention without a distinct understanding that all who participate in its deliberations are to support its candidates. This game of 'the more you put down the less you take up' has been played out.

Jones takes the place in the Senate of Hopkins L. Turney, a very bitter and narrow-

-Mr. Toombs was rather an influential Member of the XXXth Congress, but neither so potent nor so influentially placed on Committees as he thought himself entitled to be. He was consequently in rather an acid mood during the last session of it, and especially out of humor with Speaker Winthrop, who did not pet him as he thought he deserved. Mr. T.'s manners are by no means of the blandest, and he is capable of personating a bear with considerable fidelity when things do not go to suit him. At the opening of the last (XXXIst) Congress, he determined to defeat Mr. Winthrop's reëlection to the Speakership, and had influence enough to carry with him his colleagues, just been paid off by his constituents,) and Cabell of Florida; and these sufficed, by throwing away their votes, to defeat Mr. Winthrop, and ultimately elect Mr. Cobb, the Opposition candidate. Here was the first germ of 'the Union party,' which has since chosen Mr. Cobb Governor, and now made Mr. Toombs Senator.

Well: this is not all bad. Whether Mr. T. will ever be a Whig again, we cannot guess; probably not. But he takes the place of Mr. Berrien, who in public life had outlived his usefulness, and is naturally inclined to twaddling, while Toombs is gener illy rough, frank and straightforward .-He is not only opposed in the abstract to any outrageous plundering of the Treasury, but he do n't care whom he offends in saying so. As a habitual advocate of Economy and Retrenchment, he was greatly need. ed in the Senate, and cannot fail to do good there. He is still quite a young man, rather under the medium size, with a fresh, florid countenance, bespeaking a hitherto successful struggle with the cares of life.

-Mississippi is now to be soon heard from in the matter of the election of U.S. Senators. Both seats are or soon will be vacant, and a Legislature understood to be Union' in both branches is to fill them. As the Whigs have hitherto ridden behind on the 'Union' hobby, giving three-fourths of the votes by which a 'Union' Governor. State Officers, Legislature, &c., have been chosen, yet getting nothing for their own share, we trust they will now put in for the long-term Senator, and insist on having him. Whether the 'Union' bubble is or is not soon to explode, they have a right while it lasts to their share of the proceeds.

FROM BERMUDA.-We have received files of The Royal Gazette and Bermuda Advertiser, to the 4th inst. There is no news of importance. The Advertiser says -The salt season is over for the year, and 180,000 bushels have been raked, 85,000 of which have been sold vessels lie in close to the shore, and meet with ready dispatch; every captain who has once cast anchor in the roadstead, off Mathewtown, has decided in giving it the prefer ence to any other salt island in the Bahamas.

Gen. HENRY WILSON, who was the calition President of the last Massachusetts Senate, appears to have failed of a reelection by the People-also Mr. Beard, one of his colleagues on the Conlition ticket for Middlesex. If the Official the Union. The result was the election of Canvass confirms the reported result, the Contition have elected but fifteen Senators.

Bad Frith.

We have spoken freely of some of the causes of Whig disaster at our late Election. We were never before so completely disappointed in a result. We be leved the whole Whig State Ticket with a Whig Legislature would be elected by a majority of thousands. The actual result is a bare impority in the House, a tie in the Senate, and only two or three of the State Offices Whig, throwing the Canal Board against us. The multiform treacheries and the gross apathy in certain Counties which have combined to produce this result, we have already glanced at One other cause remains to be denouncednamely, seiling the State Ticket for the benefit of local candidates ame effort for the State Ticket that must have been nade for the Judge would have, kept the cority down to two or three hundred, which is Il there really is in the County. In Schoharie the Whig Sheriff and County Judge came within one or two hundred of an hection, while the State Ticket is beaten seven hundred to a thousand. There was evidently bad faith here-that is to say : an effort was made to carry the local ticket without regard to the fate of the State Officers. We are heartily glad that it did not succeed. The fair way of conducting a canvass is the safe way. A County candidate may sometimes run a few score votes ahead of the State Ticket, but his friends should try to elect him by carrying along the whole ticket, and not by leaving it to take care of itself. We hope to see no more such results as we have this lin, and one or two other Counties.

The Loco-Foco majority in the Greene County Board of Canvassers have resolved to throw out the vote of the IIId Election District in the town of Catskill. This attempt to disfranchise some three hundred Whig voters resuits from a desire to elect a Loco-Foco County Judge. There is a majority of nearly one hundred votes against him in the County, and this District gives a Whig majority of over one hundred. By throwing out these votes, the Loco-Foco candidate will be elected. This is the primary motive for this brazen outrage. The excuse for it is thus detailed by a corresp

Excuse for it is thus detailed by a correspondent:

CATRILL, Nov. 14, 1851.

Editors of Albany Evening Journal:

The Board of Canvessers of this County have this afternoon by a vote of 8 to 5, rejected the returns of Election District No 3 of the town of Catskill. The District gives the whole Whig Ticket, State and County, over 160 majority. The effect of this decion is to defeat Battev as County Judge. The rea

These reasons are not sufficient for the disfranchisement of the electors of an entire district, nor can they, it seems to us, be recognized as sufficient by the Board of State Canvassers, Those who shall certify to the correctness of the returns, thus mutilated, must certify to a false-hood. The law requires such a Certificate from the County Clerk, as Secretary of the Board. We mistake the character of that officer if he shall lend himself to the consummation of this

Our only resource is to stand by the chart we laid down at Albany, with such a construction as wa given to it by the Whigs of New York City, in thei great Ratification Meeting here."

-That great Ratification Meeting was about the smallest, dullest, most insignificant City Meeting ever held. Its funny "construction" the Albany Platform was followed by a signal defeat of the Whig party in this City, for the first ime in several years. The prospect offered to us by The Express is certainly not inviting.

MADAME SONTAG.-Twenty years since this eminent singer made her first appearance at Frankfort-on-the-Main and has just reappeared there, with greater success than ever. The Frankfurte Journal, of October 28, says "The crowd at the opening of the theater last evening for the performance of Madame Henriette Sontag, was so extraordinarily great, that several persons, and especially a woman, had to be carried off half dead. A large number escaped with the loss of their hats and p rts of their clothing. The applause which Madenie Sontag received was truly enthusiastic she was called out seven times."

FROM ST. DOMINGO .- By the schooner T. P. Johnson, from Jacmel, we have dates to the 26th uit. The terms offered to the Emperor Paustin I., by the American, French and British authorities, were accepted at Port au-Prince about the 15th ult., the Emperor agreeing to assume the Dominican debts, and he is now from in his purpose of capturing the Eastern or Dominican part of the island. He had called out 3,000 men from Jacmel to rendezvous at Port-au-Prince, with this intent. Otherwise everything was quiet.

Provisions were very scarce, and commanded enormous prices.

J. W. Phelps has written us a letter, the object of which seems to be to exculpate Mr. Walker, who shot his brother-in-law by accident in Michigan, on the 31st ult. The report from this City, that Conklin, Urrea. Nov. 16, 1851.
The report from this City, that Conklin, the lacendiary, was respited is false. Gov. Hunt has sent to the Sheriff of Onesda, a letter declining to interfage. He says that arson has become a frequent crime throughout the country, and an example must be made to deter others from the commission of the offerse. Of Conklin's guilt, there is no doubt, nor that he was one of the chief authors of the fires in this city last Winter. For these reasons, Gov. Hunt leaves the prisoner to his fare, and Conklin will be executed on Friday next. The Covernor makes no mention of Orcutt in his letter, and his fate is coasequently in doubt. The Condemed Incendiary Conklin.
